Phase 1: Planning the Research

1.1 Topic and Title

Schools in Belize send notices by e-mail, printed letter, WhatsApp and social media, yet some parents never receive important information while others feel overloaded. The group therefore chose the title: Factors Influencing Parents' Preferred Communication Media for Receiving School Information at a Secondary School in Belize City.

1.2 Permission and Schedule of Activities

A permission letter was sent to the Principal (Appendix A). The schedule of activities (Appendix B) lists 12 activities from 7 January to 13 March 2026.

1.3 Research Questions

1. Which communication media do parents currently use to receive information from the school?
2. Which medium do parents prefer for urgent, confidential and general information?
3. Which factors most influence parents' choice of communication medium?

1.4 Background

Schools communicate with parents through printed letters, e-mail, messaging services such as WhatsApp, social networking pages and websites. Newer technologies such as smartphones and social networking services are fast and cheap but differ in privacy and reach (Small, 2026). The syllabus lists the degree of urgency, genre, level of confidentiality, location, cost, efficiency and effectiveness as factors in choosing a medium (Caribbean Examinations Council [CXC], 2024; Price, 2013).

When the wrong medium is used, parents miss meetings, fee deadlines and report days, students lose support at home, and staff waste time repeating notices (CXC, 2024). Regular two-way communication is one of the strongest forms of family involvement in a child's education (Epstein, 2011), so choosing suitable media makes the school more efficient.

1.5 Purpose of the Research

This study aims to identify the media parents use and prefer for different kinds of school information, and the factors behind their choices, so that the school can plan communication that reaches every parent.

Phase 2: Method of Investigation

2.1 Type of Research

Mixed research was used, mainly quantitative. A questionnaire gave countable answers that could be compared and charted, while short interviews with two form teachers added qualitative detail on response rates and problems that numbers alone cannot explain.

2.2 Population and Sampling Procedure

The population was the parents and guardians of Form 3 students. Simple random sampling gives every member an equal chance of selection: with the Principal's permission, each Form 3 class list was numbered and ten names were drawn by a random number generator, giving 30 parents, ten per class (Table 1). Late returns were replaced with reserve names drawn the same way. The form teachers of 3A and 3C were interviewed.

2.3 Data Collection Instrument and Procedure

The parent questionnaire (Appendix C) has 12 items: Sections B, C and D answer Research Questions 1, 2 and 3, using multiple-choice, frequency and ranking items. The interview schedule (Appendix D) has five open questions. Because parents' contact details are confidential, the school office sent out and collected the questionnaires in sealed envelopes from 2 to 6 February 2026.

Phase 3: Presentation and Discussion of Findings

3.1 Presentation of Findings

Responses were entered in Microsoft Excel and summarised with COUNTIF, COUNTIFS, AVERAGE, SUM and percentage formulae (Appendix E).

Selected Quotations from the Form Teacher Interviews

Interview question	Form teacher, 3A	Form teacher, 3C
1. How are notices sent?	“Mostly through the class WhatsApp group, with a printed letter for anything official.”	“Letters go home in the students’ bags; urgent notices go on WhatsApp.”
2. Response rates	“About two-thirds of parents answer on WhatsApp within a day; with letters, maybe half.”	“Fewer than half of the reply slips on letters come back.”
3. Problems	“Parents complain of too many messages when the group is used for chatting.”	“Some letters never reach home, and some parents change numbers without telling us.”
4. Confidential matters	“Never on the group. Reports are collected in person and fee notices are sealed.”	“A sealed letter or a private call to the parent.”
5. One improvement	“One official channel used only for school notices.”	“Update contact details every term and e-mail the reports.”

Note. Notes taken during 15-minute interviews on 4 and 5 February 2026; teachers are not named.

3.2 Discussion of Findings

Research Question 1. WhatsApp is now the main medium for 13 parents (43.3%), followed by printed letters (8, 26.7%) (Table 3, Figure 1). Almost all parents can access WhatsApp (29) and 90% check it at least daily, compared with 40% for e-mail (Table 2, Table 4).

Research Question 2. Preferences depend on the type of message (Table 5, Figure 2). For urgent messages 20 parents (66.7%) prefer WhatsApp, but for confidential matters e-mail (13) and printed letters (11) lead, and only 5 choose WhatsApp. General notices are spread across the Facebook page (9), WhatsApp (8) and letters (6).

Research Question 3. Speed is the most important factor (average rank 1.87; ranked first by 17 parents), followed by privacy (2.73) and convenience (3.13); cost (3.50) and language (3.77) matter least (Table 6).

3.3 Analysis and Interpretation

Parents choose a medium to suit the message: speed makes WhatsApp the choice for urgent news, while privacy steers confidential matters to e-mail and sealed letters, matching the syllabus factors (CXC, 2024). Printed letters are the weakest link: 75% of parents who rely on them missed information, against 15.4% of WhatsApp users (Table 7, Figure 3), and a teacher confirmed that “some letters never reach home” (Table 10). However, WhatsApp brings overload: 9 parents (30%) receive too many messages, which teachers link to chatting in class groups. Generally, no single medium suits every purpose.

3.4 Recommendations and Implementation Strategy

1. The school should send urgent and general notices through a one-way WhatsApp broadcast channel used only for official notices, with the same notices on its Facebook page.
2. Confidential information such as reports and fee statements should be e-mailed, with sealed printed copies only for parents without e-mail, instead of relying on letters carried home by students.

Implementation strategy: By 30 April 2026 the Principal will ask the office administrator to set up a broadcast channel for each Form 3 class, form teachers will update parents’ contact details and e-mail addresses at the May PTA meeting, and the office will e-mail term reports from July 2026.

Conclusion

WhatsApp is the main and fastest medium, but parents prefer e-mail or sealed letters for confidential matters and rank speed and privacy above cost and language. Printed letters are often lost, while WhatsApp groups overload some parents. Matching each medium to the type of message should help the school reach every parent on time.

Dear Mrs Flowers

REQUEST FOR PERMISSION TO SURVEY FORM 3 PARENTS AND INTERVIEW TWO FORM TEACHERS

We are Aaliyah Tillett, Joshua Pech and Kimani Young, Form 5 students of Mahoe Grove High School. For our CSEC Electronic Document Preparation and Management (EDPM) School-Based Assessment we are researching the factors that influence parents' preferred communication media for receiving school information.

The purpose of the study is to find out which media parents now use, which they prefer for urgent, confidential and general information, and which factors guide their choice, so that the school can improve its communication plan.

We request permission to select 30 parents at random from the three Form 3 class lists and to ask them to complete a 12-item questionnaire, which takes about ten minutes. To protect parents' contact details, we ask that the school office send out and collect the questionnaires in sealed envelopes between 2 and 6 February 2026. We also request a 15-minute interview with two Form 3 form teachers.

Taking part is voluntary. The questionnaire does not ask for names, we will never see parents' telephone numbers or e-mail addresses, and teachers will not be named in the report. Results will be reported only as totals, and the completed forms will be shredded after our report has been marked.

If you need further information, please contact me at aaliyah.tillett@mahoegrovehigh.edu.bz or through the school office at (501) 223-0164, or our EDPM teacher, Mr Rolando Castillo. Copies of the questionnaire and interview schedule are enclosed. Thank you for considering our request.

Yours sincerely
